I'd like to know what you guys think of the Deathstroke fight Arkham Knight because they both have experience in martial arts and they fought Batman and they were a good challenge. I feel Deathstroke can beat Arkham Knight as well as you would like to play like Arkham Knight in DLC and it's as a skin for problems and free roaming. Page 2 8 comments

Originally a soldier in the U.S. Army during the Vietnam War, Slade Wilson was part of a pilot program of super-soldiers, where he gained increased strength, agility, healing factor and intelligence. Deathstroke became a mercenary shortly after the experiment and quickly gained a reputation as one of the greatest assassins in the world. After his defeat and imprisonment at the hands of Batman, Deathstroke escaped from the wing of the maximum security prison Blackgate and worked as an ally of Scarecrow and Knight Arkham, serving as an advisor and warden of their siege of Gotham and campaigning to defeat Batman both mentally and physically, expose him and turn Gotham City into a city of fear. Special. After the Knight of Arkham was defeated, the Deadly Strike replaced him and took his place as militia commander and second commander of Scarecrows. Deathstroke appeared as a supporting antagonist and one of the eight Black Mask killers in Batman: Arkham Origins and emerged as the most wanted antagonist in Batman: Arkham Knight, but after the Arkham Knight became an antihero eventually, Deathstroke took over the militia and was shown as a tertiary antagonist. The contents of the show Incident Reports prior to the Arkham Origins incident Slade was an experienced member of the Special Forces and held the rank of lieutenant colonel. This distinction earned him admission to a hidden program, where he was subjected to extensive mental and physical enlargement. The procedures left him with increased mental function, as well as increased speed, strength, healing factor and endurance, although the experiment was declared a failure later. Although most of the file was redacted, it turned out that Slade was eventually discharged from the Army, although the exact circumstances were not specified. He took the job as a mercenary. His increase, combined with his skill in hand-wringing, made him a formidable opponent. After his military service, Wilson worked for various private military contractors before striking out on his own - and is said to be becoming one of the highest paid contract killers in the world, and specialises in high-profile murders. FBI files linked Slade Wilson to the murder of various offshore dictators and businessmen. Less was known about his inner workings. Additional skills included: weapons expert, demolition expert, close-area combatant and ambush methods. The fatal attack was armed with several weapons and was considered an expert with weapons, firearms and explosives. Distinctive characteristics included a damaged right eye, a graying and an orange accented black body armor. By the time he was contracted to kill Batman, Deathstroke had managed to commit at least 30 murders, including 26 first-degree murders, and 14 that were linked to the murders of public figures, and he was 45 years old. At an unspecified time, Wilson was under fire in the Hindu Kush Valley, where his lung was lowered. He later noticed that his fix and survival barrage of bullets was the only mystery that he would ever have to figure out. In all the years of struggle, Wilson considered the most beautiful thing he saw as a napalm bomb exploded at night. Incident with Arkham Origins What are you? - Slade, a surprised Batman backed him in the corner of Batman landing a critical blow to Deathstroke after a beatdown that causes his mask to break. The deadly strike was seen in the museum, whisking agents with one of its bo staffs and was delivered an envelope by one of the Black Mask minions. Just before Christmas, Deathstroke attempted to make its first attempt through some of the men's Black Mask delivery box from the queen's industry, which contained a bomb intended for the Dark Knight. Batman barely managed to escape the explosion, and Deadly Strike fights him even in battle, although the killer gradually took over. However, he was prevented from killing his deadshot quarry, another of the killers who was also hired by Black Mask. Shortly after Batman escaped on the night, Deadly Strike collided with the Black Mask because he had contracted at least one other killer besides himself, but was rebuffed by a criminal lord. The fatal blow remained in Gotham during the initial attack on Blackgate, preferring to wait for Batman to come to him. Soon after, Batman was busy in Gotham dealing with other killers and criminals trying to make a name for themselves. After that, Deathstroke tracked down Batman on the ship, the final sentence, where he rescued the penguin from Batman using his remote claw. The fatal blow tried to attack Batman with a sword when he was suspended upside down. However, Batman grabbed the sword, cut himself, and both fighters descended into the Battle Pit. Both combatants put up a formidable battle. During the meeting, Batman managed to break the deathstroke and Bo Staff mask. Eventually, the crusader in the caped threw the Deathstroke sword into the wall to distract him, and knocked out the killer by slamming his head into the handle with a punch. After the battle, Batman received the Remote Claw from Deathstroke and continued after Penguin. I don't have a fight with you anymore. Not if someone else didn't stab you - Slade shows his professionalism The fatal blow was taken to Blackgate Prison, where he was later seen in his cell. He was the only prisoner not released during the Joker's rampage. In his cell, Deathstroke was doing push-ups and stated that he had not quarreled with Batman, and was just after Lethal Strike clarified that if he was released, he would kill the Joker in retaliation for refusing the offer. The fatal blow remained in his cell until he was found by Amanda Waller, who tried to recruit him to Suicide Squad. The fatal suicide squad strike was released before the Blackgate incident. He also accepted Waller's offer to join Suicide Squad. However, some time after that, the Deadly Strike managed to escape from suicide squad and resumed his work as a mercenary. Throughout this time, Deathstroke wanted another shot at Batman, but would only do so if he paid for it. The Arkham Asylum Incident Deathstroke was hired by the Mystery Joker to make sure Jason Todd was not found Batman. However, Jason was able to convince him that the Joker would not keep his promise to pay Deathstroke. Jason instead got Slade to help him break into Wayne Tower, where triple pay was drained from Bruce's accounts and sent to Deathstroke. Between The Asylum and the Deathstroke Fight was held by the fixer Jason, who continued to use his help to train a large militia in their and Batman's methods. Jason planned to kill Batman as soon as everything was in place, something he offered Deathstroke a chance to do. They entered into a reluctant partnership with scarecrow, which revised its plan to allow gotham to pull Batman out in several directions to weaken him before the Dark Knight could be killed. Around the same time, Jason christened himself the Knight of Arkham. Arkham Knight Incident later, Deathstroke and two of his allies planned to make Gotham into the city of fear on Halloween night. Deathstroke stood most of the night watching and even witnessed Arkham Knight falling to defeat Batman with Cloudburst. After that, Scarecrow put Deathstroke at the head of the Arkham Knight militia and continued his personal war against Batman. He also took on the role of overseeing his campaign against Mr. Freeze if Batman didn't help Freeze. After Batman shot down all the militia, the deadly strike collided with him with his personal tank. Batman went on a fatal strike and destroyed his tank. When Batman left the Batmobile and approached in an attempt to apprehend him, the deadly blow jumped out of his tank, sword in hand, and tried to kill him. Instead, Batman caught Deathstroke out of thin air after throwing out the Batmobile, hit him outside, knocked him out with a massive punch to the chin, and took him to the GCPD Lockup. When he regained consciousness, Deadly Strike stated that because Batman had earned his respect, he would dedicate the rest of his life to killing him and that he would do it for free. When Deathstroke was sent to his cell after the other inmates, he told Batman that it was a mistake to put him there, as he could end up being the only prisoner when he returned (which implies that he would probably kill them all), although his general casual behavior suggested that he had decided against it. After the Post Personality like Bruce Wayne was exposed, Deathstroke told Batman that he didn't care who he was under the mask. All that mattered to him was that murder. Known for his reputation as the greatest killer in the world, Slade Wilson is an unrivalled professional, judged by the work he does and draws to contract-based jobs, especially the jobs that Batman considers - who, after beating him once, is dedicated to a rematch and finally defeat his rival. He feels a personal duty to complete the work, but is too pragmatic and professional to make the job a personal matter. He fully admits that he does his job only if he is sure that he will receive compensation and because of this did not attack Batman while imprisoned in Blackgate, as the Joker had no means to pay him. Despite his killer lifestyle, Slade has a sense of honor and follows the code of warriors, no matter how deformed he is, in particular, he will give his opponents a quick death in battle. The heavy flaw he possessed was that Slade might be too arrogant and self-confident about his own abilities. By killing all the people he fought with, he believed Batman would be just an easy target. It is likely that this arrogance that was a factor in his defeat, and he seemed to learn his lesson in Arkham Knight as he appears less arrogant but still quite boastful about his war stories, which he told Batman repeatedly. It is likely that these numerous past victories that have caused his arrogance. As a result of defeating the second time Batman, Slade seems hypocritically forgotten his own code does not become personally involved in the work and becomes obsessive, finally killing Batman, claiming that he will not need payment and will do it for free. Gameplay unlike Batman and Robin, Deathstroke couldn't slide. Instead, he replaced their Glide Kick maneuvers with Pounce Attack, which looked like Catwoman and Nightwing's. If the enemy was far enough instead of slipping, Deathstroke would jump off Vantage Point and pounce on the enemy, and left them stunned and ready to land a takedown on the floor. Deathstroke also had its own detective mode, which was called Tactical Vision. It was completely identical to Robin's, except instead of the blue layout, the Deathstroke layout was solid green. Unlike any other playable characters in the series, Deathstroke began to instantly regain its vitality, cages and health when it was not attacked. (His armor didn't regenerate, however.) This, however, can be achieved with other characters when using a specific modifier in Challenge Maps. Because of its high level of super-human power, Deathstroke can open the vents much easier and faster than other characters, with a single-press X/A instead of a mash button. At the last it was possible at the Arkham Asylum when Ultra Batclaw was used. Also, when disarming someone with a riot shield or car door, blow deathstroke through glass shield knocked down the one who was carrying him down. Batman, the only other character capable of destroying the shields and doors of the machine, hit the target with his disarming blow, rather than knocking them down. Ballistic personnel gadgets - Deathstroke, like Robin, used retractable personnel as their main weapon, which contained a hidden rifle and a micro-bomb launcher inside its core. Grapple Hook /Gun - Used in the same way that Batman used it, only to fight Vantage Points and ledges. Deathstroke interestingly there were two gun captures, one that was used to fight higher platforms and the other that was identical to Batclaw, and was used to remove the vent cover, fight enemies, etc. Remote Claw - used exactly as Batman used it, it was a capture device that shot the hook on the coil. Smoke Pellet / Stun Grenade - Used to run away from armed henchmen when under fire or distract enemies, beat them, and take them. Proximity Bomb - Used as a trap for unsuspecting enemies to stumble upon. They can be planted on enemies as an immediate stun. Neural pellets - Used as pellets planted on an enemy who has released stunning gases. Gadgets (Unplayable) 2 Custom Ninjato Swords - After Batman snapped his staff in half during their fight, Slade possessed one, sharpened blade with a stylized handle. His other blade was discarded by the Dark Knight before the battle. Although they were often mistaken for Katanas, the key difference was that Katanas had curved blades, while the ninjatos had straight blades. Desert Eagle Hand - Deathstroke also used IMI Desert Eagle, which he used to execute Batman during one of his screen games. Laser Sight Pistol - Deathstroke was yet to be identified as a backup gun. It was very different from modern pistols and resembled the kind of weapon that could be seen in a sci-fi film. It was laser sighted, and used only if the player moved far from Deathstroke. Flashbangs Psychological Profile real name: Slade Wilson GCPD Profile FBI files link to Slade Wilson murder of various offshore dictators and business people. Less is known about his inner workings. Deathstroke skills include hand-wringing, demolition training, armed combat and ambush techniques. After military service, Wilson worked for various private military contractors before striking out on his own - and becoming one of the highest-paid contract killers in the world, specializing in high-profile murders that are considered impossible work. CONFIRMED METAHUMAN STATUS - Deathstroke has the speed, strength, health and mental enhancements that qualify it for metahuman status. It should always be considered armed with several weapons and considered in expert with weapons, firearms and explosives. Distinctive features include the missing right eye, gray hair and black body armor with orange accents. The Database Batman Profile Wilson was a member of the special forces. This distinction earned him admission to a hidden program, where he was subjected to extensive mental and physical enlargement. The treatments left him with enhanced mental function as well as increased speed, strength, healing factor and endurance. Most of the file is edited, but it appears that Slade was eventually discharged from the Army, although the exact circumstances are not specified. Since then, he began working as a mercenary. His additions, combined with his skill in hand combat make him a formidable opponent - arguably one of the most dangerous Batman ever, or ever, face. Attributes are genetically supplemented attributes: It has been enhanced through special medical procedures that have led to his superhuman strength, speed, endurance and reflexes, as well as low-level rapid healing abilities. He has the strength to send people flying with a single punch, defeat a Venom-Powered soldier with relative ease, dodge rapid shooting, think complex strategies instantly, not tire for days of physical activity and go without means of subsistence for days or weeks, endure a huge amount of pain and damage, impervious to the damage done by a small firearm and can quickly heal from any injury. His healing abilities, enhanced metabolism and improved physiological health prevent his natural death, either by age or disease, or die by almost any means, so this emphasizes his seeming immortality. Superhuman power: The power of Deathstroke has been increased beyond the natural limits of the human race, its power surpassing even the likes of Batman. It is strong enough to easily send a person flying a very long distance with a punch or blow, out of the strength of other superhuman opponents, and can raise about 2 tons at maximum. Superhuman speed: Deathstroke speed also increases. It is fast enough to be blurring beyond the eyes of a normal person, out of speed or even a straight blitz of other superhumans, to keep up and even surpass Batman fight and running speed. Finally, it can run at 65 mph and swim at 25 knots at its peak. Superhuman Longevity: The Deathstroke body is extremely durable, its skin, bones and muscles have all been enlarged to make it stronger and harder than a normal person, so allow it to be impervious to injury to a certain extent. He took blows from people with tremendous force such as Batman, the people on Venom unfazed, and other countless, massive explosions through his career as a murderer. Superhuman agility: Deathstroke agility is also enhanced, it can go from one movement to another easily, effectively dodge attacks, swing things easily, sprint, do back-flips and many other gymnastic, athletic and combat guns effortlessly. Superhuman Stamina: Deathstroke is very resistant to the build-up of fatigue toxins in the blood, allowing it to be physically active for significantly longer periods of time than the average user member. In addition, it is at its peak of power for hours, if not days, before it gets exhausted. Superhuman Reflexes: Deathstroke dramatically increased the reaction speed, allowing it to dodge bullets, catch flies in the air, dodge and maneuver around complex attacks, catch falling objects, block damage and instantly react to what others take longer to react to. Superhuman Feelings: Deathstroke has extremely precise feelings that allow it to see, hear, smell, taste, touch and/or feel bigger than the average member of the human race. Regeneration: The deadly impact of natural healing abilities has been greatly accelerated. This allows it to completely regenerate lost or damaged tissue in a few moments. He is usually in very good physical shape as his body constantly returns to a healthy state, giving him almost inexhaustible stamina and vitality. However, it seems that Deathstroke cannot regenerate the youth of his hair, nor his missing eye. Toxic Immunity: Deadly Strike is immune to some, if not all, known poisons, toxins, poisons, viruses, bacteria, allergens, etc. Immortality: Despite the appearance of Deathstroke, Death cannot die by any natural means, through aging or disease. He can't even be killed by most means, such as ballistic attacks, stablings, explosions, etc. Improved intelligence: Deathstroke has intelligence that is well above the standard intelligence level of genius; possessing exceptional intellectual abilities, creativity and originality, as a rule, to such an extent that it is associated with the achievement of new achievements in the field of knowledge. He is gifted with higher mental abilities such as stronger memory, better calculating skills, greater reasoning skills, and superior learning potential. At this stage, he can often come up with unique and original ideas that take humanity's thinking to the next level. Expert on Armed Weapons, Martial Arts and Melee Combat Genius Level Strategist, Manipulator, Intimidator - Tactical Analysts Acrobatics, Stealth, Tracking, Marksmanship and Swordsman's Demolitions, Automotive, Aviation, Espionage - Escape Artisty Expert Arsenal Resources, Weapons, Gadgets and Advanced Technology Its Equipment - Armor Collected a fortune from contract killings. Previously served in the army. Confirmed as american Advanced Super Soldier. The appearance of Batman Arkham Origins In Arkham Origins, Slade's costume featured classic orange-blue colors, but it was armored. Half of Slade's helmet was covered, and the other half showed his eyes. This is because he got shot in the eyes and had to wear an eye patch. Slade wore several tussles on top of the suit for bullets, darts, and other things. When his helmet was knocked down, Slade's features were gray hair, and gray facial hair. Batman Arkham City: Lockdown Slade had a more classic look, with iconic orange and light blue, light blue, to have armor, he had a spandex-type suit, with boots. This suit was similar to Judah's contract skin at Arkham Origins. Batman Arkham Knight Slade wore exactly the same suit as in Arkham Origins, but with great damage. Most damage on the mask, because Batman knocked down the mask. Citations: Batman: Arkham Origin Batman-Arkham Knight - Game Over-Deathstroke Looks Like You Got My Invitation. It's just you and me. (Batman) I don't think he's the No. and next time, keep the other killers out of my way. (Black Mask after Deadshot interrupts his fight with Batman) It looks like the game is over before it even begins. Tracking you was a lot easier than I thought. Maybe you won't be a big problem after all. Make no mistake, I'm killing you for money. But that won't stop me from enjoying it. Your methods and tactics are impressive, but worse. They're not going to save you. The restrictions that you have placed on yourself will make collecting this money too easy. Vigilance? Waste of your talents. Not that it matters now. Bat. Why, I wonder, a bat? You made a mistake to fight me. Your training is inadequate. You're outmatched. I'm surprised. Amateur. It was a mistake. Inadequate. Funny. Not such a pushover after all. Ready for more? Ha ha. Didn't you notice the discovery I gave you? You'll regret it. You have to be faster. Imperfect technique. Didn't you realize I wasn't here to fight? I'm here to kill. You were more troublesome than I expected. A few tricks on the left, I see. Do you honestly think you can win without killing me? What now? Denied. I'm promoted. Besides you? You're just a man in a cloak. Again! You can't match me. I see it will take more. Fair enough. You have the skills but you don't have enough experience. I expect you will be worth every penny of that 50 million. Try something else. I know you've seen the hole, but you don't take it. Why? And another opportunity you couldn't use. That's amazing. I'm stronger, faster, better. Tenacious. Try again. Your restraint weakens you. Weak. The only way it ends with death. Yours or mine. No more. It won't be long. Aggressive. Did you think it would work? Hmph. - Batman You are struggling with limitations. I don't have such restrictions. You fight like a young man. All emotions and little discipline. I see it will take more. Fair enough. Your chance of a painless death is over. Are you afraid to kill? Is that true? Almost. Why restraint, Batman? Batman! - Batman, whom he is about to hit with a sword. Die! - Batman, whom he is about to hit with a sword. What are you doing? Apparently, the Joker is afraid of me. Wouldn't let me out, and for good reason. I don't like it when my time is wasted. Heh... Well you don't have to worry about it anymore - not if someone puts $50 million dollars. I knew you'd be there sooner or later. (Amanda And what happens if I I Sign? (Amanda Waller) (Call cards) I'm afraid the odds aren't in your favor. (Call cards) It won't be nice for you. (Call cards) More amateurs behind my reason. I can all work... (Call cards) Today is not a good day for beginners. (Call cards) So what are we waiting for? (Call cards) Excellent. Lovers. (Call Maps) Batman: Arkham City Lockdown bat worked. He's here. You'll have it soon. (Hugo Strange on Batman) Batman: Arkham Knight Is Good to See You Again, Batman. It was a time. Deadly hit of a code name. And I'm at work. Now, as I recall, you once said I'm not worried about you. But our mutual friend, the Knight of Arkham? He speaks differently. He tracked me down. Said I was the toughest bastard you've ever walked on a no-knock with. Not really. I took the payment in advance on this and it makes me professionally obliged to finish it. You still have a lot to learn, Batman. I only fight the best. When I tell you idiots hold a position I mean keep it! I don't go, you have to be thankful that I didn't train these Batman men, then you would fight real soldiers. Rough force only works for unskilled opponents, Batman. But are you ready to take on a warrior. Do you want the roads back? Take them. It won't do any good. You've always been one of the best. I see it's Batman, these people are wearing you down, breaking you. And I'm waiting. You're not as good as you think Batman is. You just went too long without a real fight. Knight really hated you, Batman. That's why he failed. These things should never be personal. Don't think you're winning Batman, you're just fighting closer to death. There's a lot of people left there waiting to kill you. I'm actually starting to think that you have the courage to run into me. I'm not going to fall at your feet like these Batman people. You're going to have to kill me. You're just amateurs, bat. Me and you, it's going to be a real fight. You better have something in the Batman reserve. I want this fight to last. Wash off all the firepower and see how long you last in this area. Go and dislocate another one. The Dark Knight, I dare you! Until the last remaining checkpoint, get ready, the bat is coming. I don't go. Batman, you're a tough man to kill. You remind me of this guerrilla who continued to attack our camp in Tropicotr. Eventually, we caught him. I nailed my head to the wall. I don't think so. You pulled out my checkpoints. Good work. But I have a city rigged to blow up and our watchtowers have locked the sky of Gotham. It's been too long since I've had a real fight. Last time you held on. Batman. You pulled out those last few strokes when you had to leave scars. I almost got you, Batman, back on this. Ship. You won't leave again. It's been a long time since I've been in a war zone. Bat. I feel young again. Keep fighting, Batman. Hit the militia as hard as you can. Can. wait to finish you off. You're always holding on. Batman. Very soon it will cost you. I've been watching you for years. Learning your skills, your wins and defeats. I am ready. Not bad, Batman. But don't forget, I do it for a living. I've fought a lot of guys like you, Batman. A lot of people want to be heroes. You're the best, but you're going to die like everyone else. You caught me off guard last time, I admit. I don't think you could put up with a fight. Possible man down. Search the area. Get him. Knight may be gone. Batman, but I'm going to finish it. You keep attacking my forces, Batman, and you could just work your way up to me. But I don't need watchtowers. I don't need checkpoints. We have tanks on the streets and Gotham rigged to blow up. It's been waiting years for this rematch! But I was never going to do it for free. Pure firepower helps. Batman. But it doesn't match the skill. You seem pretty attached to this car, Batman. Shame I have to destroy it. Takes me back. That's it, work your way to me. You were inspired when we met. I'm looking forward to paying you back. Knight Arkham was wrong. It's not about brute force. Not about numbers. To defeat the bat you just have to be good enough. Do you think you're good? One day I pulled six T-80s with an RPG, two shells and a punctured lung. Haha, keep fighting, Dark Knight, I'm learning a lot. I don't like drones, Batman. I like my hands on the wheel, my finger on the trigger. My eye is looking down the sights. They're just drones, the Dark Knight. When you run into me, you have to deal with a manned vehicle. It's a good tank, bat. Wait till you see mine. You're a hunter, Batman. Parisans. You're good, but it's a different kind of war. You just lost control of the drone, sergeant! Well, Batman, it looks like you've been busy. Do you think I care about the police? Gotham? I'm a killer, Batman, and I came here today to do one thing. Did you know that every guy who fought me and left has in common, Batman? I got them next time. It's just a matter of time before I find you, the Dark Knight. The next mistake will be your last, Batman. No one's slipping away from me! Come out and face me. Gotcha the Dark Knight! You can't walk the distance with me. You're pushing your luck, Batman, there's only so much you have left. You can't hide from me! This time, Batman, I'm the only one leaving. Fight me, coward! I'm here, Batman, let's play. There's no going away! Where are you? You're dead! It's over! You're a cowardly bastard ... You caught me off guard. If you were any person, you would pull out the car and finish it properly. I'm killing you, Batman. Oh, this carrier no longer needs payment. I'll deliver you. Ha, you call it prison? Do you think it's wise to put me here with all these smaller warriors? You may not have left when you get back. The chance to fight you is always worth it, Batman. You have to be. When a person earns my respect, which means I don't rest, I dedicate all my energy, everything I have to kill him! I'm going to do this on my personal mission to kill you when I get out of here, Batman. The army was never my idea. I prefer a more intimate approach. Twisting the blade, warm blood flows over my arm. Next time comadre, next time. I don't care who you are. You're dying the same way. Small opponents can be deceptively strong in battle. You... need to lose weight first. (Penguin) I don't see the M4 carbine, 9-inch trunk assembly, high area res optical with rail interface. That's not my God. (Azrael) The only puzzle I had to solve... was reinflating my own lung while under fire in the Hindu Kush Valley. (Riddler) Ever seen a napalm fall at night? The most beautiful thing in the world. (Firefly) Looks like the war is upon you, brother. I knew a guy in Hanoi. Used to make wallets out of a dead Vietcong. You guys will... hit him. My soul does not need the salvation of a human preacher. I sold it a long time ago. (Deacon Blackfire) Game over Lines You fought well, Batman. But I'm stronger. Faster. Smarter. And it only ends the way it could. (Arkham Origin) Know that you are dying with honor, which is more than can be said for most. (Arkham Origin) You can't match me! (Arkham Origin Mobile) Contract is completed. Batman is finished. (Strange: So the great Batman fell... good.) (Arkham City Lockdown) Shame on the car. I would have saved it when I finished with you. (Knight of Arkham) It was a long rivalry, bat. But that's the only way it can end. What happened, Batman? You used to put up with a fight. Mark Rolston, who voiced Deathstroke in Arkham Origins and Knight also voiced Firefly in Season 4 of Batman: The Animated Series, as well as Lex Luthor. The deadly strike, along with Bane and some of the soldiers upgraded by Venom, was Arkhamvers' response to super-soldiers. He doesn't believe in the gods. Unlike other playable characters, Deathstroke had no problems breaking the limbs of its female opponents. Members of the Batfamília simply knock them out, avoiding long-term damage. Taking command of the Arkham Knight militia, Deadly Strike mentioned that the Arkham Knight had told him that Batman considered him the toughest bastard he had ever encountered. This reflected events in games where Deathstroke was arguably the toughest boss of the battle in the series. After Batman removed a number of militia bases, Deadly Strike made a remark that said the Batman award had grown from fifty million, which was his Arkham Origins award. In Arkham Knight, after Batman captured him and Professor Pig, one of Deathstroke's prison dialogues made it clear to Pig that he knew a guy in Hanoi who could skin Vietcong in his wallets implying that Pig could work with him. This suggests that Deathstroke was previously involved in the Vietnam War. Batman was the first person to survive his encounter with Deathstroke, and was also the first to survive two encounters with him. The Arkham Deathstroke version seemed a little hypocritical, as shown in Arkham Knight. When Batman took out the checkpoints, Deadly Fired commented how the man he fought with didn't hide in the car. However, Deathstroke operated the tank during its boss's fight. Deathstroke also disliked Knight Arkham's motif as he was after the bat for personal reasons, but he himself clearly took the job so he could get a chance to fight Batman. When it is transported to GCPD, he even states that from now on, he will take Batman for free if asked. Although Batman: Arkham Knight was installed ten years after the events of Batman: Arkham Origins, Deathstroke still wore the same black and orange armor as a decade ago, making him the only character in the series who did not change his costume. Although it seemed Deathstroke had lost weight some as the armor's less thick and shoulder pads reach his head longer. (Given that Deathstroke will be in his mid-50s Knight, he probably got shorter because of his old age.) The Joker's hallucination compared him to the Crypt Keeper, saying: Gather around the kids. Uncle Slade has more tales from the trenches. In the Arkham Origins teaser, the explosives toolkit that Deathstroke used as bait to lure Batman into the trap had the industry queen's logo on it, a reference to how Deathstroke was technically a rogue for this series rather than the Batman
